

HOW TO:

Behold—the future of office environments.

Planning. Design. Furniture. Technology. Service. interphase.

There is only one you, matchless and singular. Our approach to providing people the world's best, most comprehensive products, designs, and customer service is too. Your workspace solutions lie in our simple, revolutionary formula: We listen and learn, and then we make it happen.

At interphase, we aim to thrill, it's just that simple. The goal is not merely to accommodate but astound you with adaptable workspaces that move and change and evolve as your needs do, furniture that does more than merely hold an in-basket, and technology that is intricately connected throughout your environment with total clarity.

Our people do not work with you before, during, and after project completion because they are asked to, but because they are actually excited to. Really.

Get ready to open up and say...Wow.

PLANNING

The innovative, unmatched approach to office interiors

DESIGN

FURNITURE

TECHNOLOGY

SERVICE

The innovative, unmatched approach to your workspace.

Just the thought of designing a new office or redesigning an old one can be intimidating. As you face an endless amount of detail, what is the first step? How can you seamlessly connect customers, equipment, service and technology to your workspace without putting your business on hold? Who can you trust at the helm of the project?

At interphase, we utilize a proven planning process that allows us to examine and anticipate all aspects of your project, from construction to completion, before a single chair is brought to your table. We get to know your business, your people, your philosophy, your ideas. This critical methodology pinpoints the design focus, streamlining the project, breaking it down into clear, manageable steps.

You want a smooth execution from start to finish. You want the design of your new office in place, on time, and within budget. You want a workspace that blends innovation and inventiveness with the mechanical demands of technology and the desire for a creative work environment. How do we know this? Because interphase successfully integrates all these critical components into corporations large and small everyday, and the positive results are staggering.

PLANNING

DESIGN

PLANNING

FURNITURE

TECHNOLOGY

SERVICE

Why think outside the box, when there's so many cool things you can do inside of it

DESIGN

Why think outside the box when there are so many cool things you can do inside of it.

Four walls, a floor and ceiling, that's all we need. Whether starting with a blank canvas or the masterpiece within your mind's eye, interphase interior design professionals partner with you to breathe life into the most efficient, visually stimulating environment possible. Through a series of focused inquiries and a review of your working environment, we create workspaces to reflect your company's unique mood, the distinct personality of your people and your mission.

Developed from years of experience, we identify issues such as your company's style, daily tasks, information flow, and financial parameters. With interphase, the result is a creatively stunning, working environment that pays off for you and your customers after one walk through, one look around.

Your objective is to maximize performance and productivity without compromising the intimate characteristics that reflect your company's individual style and personality. Get more out of your workspace than you will ever have to put into it. Satisfaction guaranteed - awe and all.

FURNITURE

PLANNING

DESIGN

TECHNOLOGY

SERVICE

Express yourself,
come uncubed

HAWORTH

The furniture, fabric, colors, lighting, and floor and wall coverings that define the unique mood of your workspace needs to fit as well with your people as it does with your budget. Looks aren't everything; your workspace must be well-designed, functional, creative, adaptable.

For over two and a half decades, interphase has been the area's only Preferred Haworth Dealer. Our Preferred dealer status guarantees you the best pricing and support available. With the continually expanding and evolving Haworth product line, interphase can offer the industry's best products, from classic to cutting-edge solutions, combining the optimum in functionality, design and style.

Utilizing the brilliant products and minds behind Haworth Architectural Interiors, floor-to-ceiling moveable walls, raised-access floors, and cost and energy efficient lighting options are just a few of the available solutions supported within workspace designs. They allow you to quickly and resourcefully modify your office environment, without compromising your culture or your budget.

We also represent numerous other manufacturers supplying an array of resources including: specialty furniture, sound masking, floor and wall coverings, and more.

TECHNOLOGY

Don't try to predict how technology will change, simply plan on it

PLANNING

DESIGN

FURNITURE

SERVICE

Don't try and predict how technology will change, simply plan on it.

interphase will optimize your office environment like no one else can by integrating your technology needs throughout the workspace. We don't simply find room for computers, printers, cables, and connections. We map out your technology needs for today and tomorrow, anticipating the need to expand, update and upgrade your environment in the future.

Our expertise allows you the flexibility to make technological changes during and after office updating. How? By analyzing your company's information flow, interphase can integrate this information into the interior design.

True to form, interphase strives to provide you with the highest performance workspace. Pioneering solutions like raised floors to accommodate electrical and data cabling as well as air distribution systems allow you to fine-tune your office down to the square foot. Our experience in planning for the future technology demands of office environments results in your ability to routinely change connections and incorporate new data systems into your existing ones, easily.

T
E
C
H
N O
L
O
G
Y

SERVICE

PLANNING

DESIGN

FURNITURE

TECHNOLOGY

Truth is, the end of the project is really just the beginning

Truth is, the end of the project is really just the beginning.

Our mission is to surpass your every expectation, reverse your design apprehensions, and reshape the way workspaces are created now and in the future. Our approach is unique, our people are dedicated, our goal is unyielding: to take care of every detail from our introduction to installation.

Interior design can only do so much; it's the interphase team members that take it a step further, working alongside you to accommodate your business's growth and evolution. We want you to walk through your workspace with your jaw open. We want to enhance your performance and everyday experience in the office. We just want to make sure you're completely satisfied.

When you team with interphase, our relationship doesn't end when the job is complete, it just begins. As you discover the innumerable benefits of your improved workspace, state-of-the-art products, inspiring environments, and harmony between your people and your design, interphase will continue to "thrill" you with revolutionary solutions.

